Funeral Planning

Do you feel like planning your own funeral is a morbid thing to do?
Think you are not going to die yet so you will worry about it later?
Or do you think that because you won't be there it is of no concern to you, someone else can organise it?

Don't burden others with the emotional and financial decision-making process of planning a funeral.

During this half-day seminar, we'll talk through the Funeral Service as I break it down for you and help you to get started with the planning process.
I present all the options and choices available including Eco-friendly.
